

An afternoon with Chopin and George Sand

The grand and scandalous love affair between Frédéric Chopin and George Sand is explored by Dr Christian Heim and Dr Caroline Heim in a dramatisation woven from Chopin's piano music and Sand's writings. Frédéric Chopin was one of the world's greatest composers and a virtuoso pianist. George Sand was the pen name of Amandine Aurore Lucille Dupin, a controversial novelist, feminist, and campaigner for political reform. Noel Garson, her biographer, describes her as "The First Modern, Liberated Woman".