Climate Science Forum, August 2013

The Climate Science Forum was held on Thursday 8th August 2013.

The two speakers were Dr Michael Raupach and William Kininmonth. The evening was very ably moderated by Dr Ken McCracken.

Advance questions were invited from everyone on the Branch's mailing list. Selected questions were forwarded to the speakers before the forum, so that there was time for the speakers to prepare their answers. Both speakers clearly put a lot of work into their contributions, and the result was a very informative evening, concentrating entirely on the actual science of climate and avoiding all political and fringe issues.

All of the speakers' presentation material is available on request - see Contacts.
