

Philip Cam is Associate Professor in the School of Humanities and Languages at the University of New South Wales, Australia, and President of the Philosophy in Schools Association of New South Wales. He has a DPhil in Philosophy from the University of Oxford and is an international authority on philosophy in schools. Philip helped to pioneer the introduction of philosophy into schools in Australia and has run workshops for educators around the world. He has published extensively in the field and his work has been widely translated. These include books for teachers such as Thinking Together, Twenty Thinking Tools and Teaching Ethics in Schools, and classroom materials, including the Thinking Stories series, a philosophical novella Sophia's Question, and Philosophy Park, a history of philosophy in story form. Philip is past-President of the Asia-Pacific Philosophy Education Network for Democracy, for which he edited a series of books on philosophy, democracy, education and human values.
